

THE TOWN NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

BOTH DEAD.

Service Done Between a Farmer and a Town Marshal—Each Fired One Shot.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky., July 4.—A deadly duel took place near Adairville, this county, late Saturday afternoon. John Younger, a farmer and desperate man, went to the little town, loaded up on whisky, and as he rode out of town, fired his pistol several times. H. H. Harmon, the town marshal, jumped on a horse and started after Younger. An hour later both men were found dead about one mile from the town. Younger was lying in a field, a few feet from the road, and Harmon in the middle of the road.

Both men had been shot through the heart, and only one chamber of the revolver had been discharged. There were no eye witnesses to the deadly encounter. William Younger, a brother of Dick, was killed in Adairville with a baseball bat by Detective Patterson about four years ago. The Youngers were relatives of the famous Younger brothers. Harmon killed two men in Tennessee one time several years ago. He was the only man the town of Adairville had had for a number of years who kept a shop in the town. He was fearless and a terror to evil doers.

WITH THE JURY.

West Liberty, Ky., July 4.—Upon the order of Judge Keener, when called upon, J. S. Wheeler, sheriff, had summoned 75 men from town to select a jury to try Lafayette Rogers, charged with the murder of Augustus McKee.

The evidence for the commonwealth was all in at 12 o'clock. The defense offered no witness except the prisoner. The case was argued for prosecution by W. McNeill and for the defense by W. McNeill.

After the jury had been out one hour and twenty minutes court was adjourned till Saturday morning.

The impression is if the jury agrees they will bring in a verdict of murder in the first degree, penalty death.

PLACED IN IRONS.

Bill Clark, a Notorious Convict, Nearly Brutalized Before Prisoners.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 4.—Bill Clark, a notorious Louisville convict, who has figured prominently in two desperate attempts to blow up the state penitentiary, showed up in another role at the prison Sunday. He was confined in the dungeon as a punishment for his attempt to escape, but is allowed to eat his meals at the regular tables in company of a guard.

Sunday morning Joe Mirra, a fellow prisoner, was deputized to escort Clark to breakfast. The latter had finished his meal, and was starting back to his cell when suddenly he seized a huge club and assaulted Mirra savagely. Mirra was hit on the head and blood flowed profusely from his forehead. He was soon knocked unconscious and remained so during the greater part of the day. Prison Physician Stewart does not regard Mirra's injuries as fatal, though his condition is very serious. Clark will now be kept in irons.
